How to access the scheme

Employers will need to:

- Designate affected employee(s) as 'furloughed workers' (employee(s) are kept on an employer's payroll, rather than being laid-off or made redundant). Consider whether they need to consult with employee representatives or trade unions. Notify employees of the intended change. Changing the status of employees' remains subject to existing employment law and, depending on the employment contract, may be subject to negotiation.
- Submit information to HMRC about the employees that have been furloughed and their earnings through a new online portal expected to be operational by the end of April 2020.

Most employment contracts will not permit an employer to reduce pay, provide no work or change employment status without agreement. Therefore, the employer will have to seek agreement from the employee(s) to designate them as furloughed. However, faced with the alternatives which is likely to be unpaid leave, lay-off or redundancy, the majority of affected employees are likely to agree to be placed on furlough leave.

An employee will remain employed while furloughed, but they must not work for their employer during the furlough period. They are however, permitted to undertake training and carry out volunteer work, provided they do not provide services to or make any revenue for their employer.

Providing furlough is the right option for the business, details of the proposed changes should be put in writing to the affected employee(s).

Set out clearly the proposed changes to the contract of employment.

It is important to inform and consult with appropriate representatives (eg trade unions/employee representatives) of the proposals.

Your post will be furloughed with effect from [insert relevant date] for an initial period of [three months] although this period may be extended or curtailed subject to the (three week minimum period) as the need arises. In agreeing to be classified as a furloughed worker, you will be placed on a period of temporary leave. During this period you will remain employed by us and kept on the payroll, but you are not required to attend your usual workplace or carry out any work on our behalf. Continuity of service will be preserved. This action is being taken on a temporary basis and is an alternative to lay-off or redundancy as a result of the Covid-19 pandemic. You will resume paid employment at the end of the furloughed period.

During the furlough you will be paid at the rate of [insert pay rate] per [confirm relevant pay period]. Tax, National Insurance contributions and any other statutory deductions will be deducted in the usual way, and your salary will be payable on the normal monthly payment date, directly into your bank or building society account.

Make sure that the employee receives at least 80% of their normal pay, or £2,500 per month, whichever amount is lower. Remember that you are allowed to increase the amount paid to an employee by topping up the amount provided by the CJRS grant, though you do not have to.

In circumstances, where the Government find it necessary to refine aspects of the Scheme, we will keep you informed of these changes.

Consider the most appropriate method of staying in contact with furloughed employees, remembering that not everyone will have access to email or social media. You should not require an employee to check work emails as they will not be undertaking any work.

If you provide a welfare service or employee assistance programme, remind the employee that they will continue to be able to access these services while on furlough leave.

Inform the employee that the remaining terms of his/her contract of employment will be unaffected by the changes.

Insert details reminding employees of particular key clauses in their contracts which will continue to apply, such as confidentiality and restrictive covenants.

If you agree to these changes, please indicate your acceptance by signing and returning the enclosed copy of this letter to [insert name] by [date].
